

Warehouse Management Services

Processes and safety in warehouses are important. But this is even more so within logistics companies. Not only are these facilities a cost, but are a vital “selling” tool.

Taking potential customers through a warehouse is a bit like entering a restaurant: “would I like to dine here?” Just substitute the words ‘store my product’ for ‘dine’, and you’ll get the idea: if it’s dirty and unkempt, misplaced stock, poor storage practices, damaged racking, the response might be, “I don’t want to store my product here”.

SCD staff have vast experience on both sides of the equation: we have supported and advised 3PL’s on how to ‘sell’ their warehouses and have been buyers of 3PL services, so we know what value adding activities, services and functions are essential to attracting potential customers.

Our services include:

- Advice on ‘presenting’ a warehouse
- Process mapping and improvement
- Warehouse layout, product throughput and streamlining
- Equipment selection, sourcing & negotiation
- Stocktaking and stock checks
- Warehouse Enterprise Modelling
